

Threatened Species Week Poster Competition

Threatened Species Week in early September is all about learning and helping to protect our native plants and animals from extinction

The Griffith University EcoCentre would like YOU to help raise awareness of threatened species in Australia by creating a poster on the theme of:

Habitat is Home

Australia is home to thousands of species, many of which are found nowhere else in the world. The changes we've made to our landscape have put many of these unique species at risk. Over the last two hundred years many species of plants and animals have been lost forever. For the other species of plants and animals, their survival depends on us making sure that their habitat - their homes - are not destroyed.

Open to primary school
students of all ages

Entries close
6 August 2009

Individual and class
prizes to be won

Want to take part?

If your class is interested in taking part in the Threatened Species Week Poster Competition, please contact the competition coordinator for entry information at:

R.Chamberlain@griffith.edu.au or call Rhiannon on 3735 5546