Postgraduate Library & Learning Day

Learn how to access library services and become a confident researcher.

About Postgraduate Library & Learning Day

Postgraduate Library & Learning Day is a starting point on which to build the skills needed to conduct research at the postgraduate level.

We suggest if you do not have recent experience of post graduate study to attend the morning sessions as a solid starting point to your time at university. This is a great opportunity for you to meet library staff as well as your fellow students.

Afternoon sessions are more specialised in focus. Please register on the day for the afternoon workshops. Learn about academic writing skills and EndNote application to manage your references and help you prepare professional documents quickly and efficiently.

It may not be possible to fit all you'd like to learn into one day. However this is an excellent opportunity to create an awareness of resources and services that are available to you throughout your postgraduate journey at Griffith.

Notes for the day

- BYO lunch
- Only light Refreshments (Juice & Biscuits) will be provided from 9:30am onwards in the main session room (N55_0.06 & G06_3.18).
- Please be aware that food outlets may not be open at either campus
- Nathan and Gold Coast Bookshop will be open from 10:00 am-1:00 pm
