

Creating Child Friendly Cities

28 & 29 October 2004
Royal on the Park, Brisbane CBD

Organised by Griffith University and Delfin Lend Lease

This landmark two-day symposium will feature some of the most insightful thinkers dealing with urban children's issues in Australia and New Zealand. The full urban childhood experience will be examined, ranging from early childhood development to the challenges facing urban youth. The symposium will be the first Australian research based forum to focus specifically on how urban development and urban policy affects children.

The symposium will examine:

- Whether Australian cities are 'child friendly', and
- What can be done, and what is being done, to improve their liveability for children.

Speakers will include:

- Dr Claire Freeman – University of Otago, New Zealand
- Prof Ross Homel – Griffith University
- Dr Wendy Sarkissian - Sarkissian Associates Planners Pty Ltd
- Dr Kurt Iveson – University of Sydney
- Dr Karen Malone – RMIT University
- Prof Brendan Gleeson – Griffith University
