

Dr Don Lebler

Deputy Director Learning and Teaching

Hi, I'm Don Lebler and I'm the Deputy Director of Learning and Teaching, here at the Queensland Conservatorium. In this role, I'm connected with all of the degree programs that we offer from popular music, down on the Gold Coast, through jazz, music technology, world music activities and all the classical music activities that we are so well known for, here on the Southbank Campus.

What this means is that students can come to us and study their musical passion in great depth, at the same time as being surrounded by students who are equally passionate about other kinds of music and this provides for a very, very rich learning experience for students. It is our hope that as a consequence of this diversity and the richness of the learning experiences that people can engage with here at the Con, that when they leave us, they will be better prepared for life in music in the twenty first century.
