In July 2010, the Minister announced the release of the Literacy and Numeracy Strategy for the Northern Territory which aimed to improve the learning outcomes for NT students. One of the actions arising from this strategy was the development of “School stories that prove success”. This endorsed action aims to tell the stories in a public way to celebrate the successes experienced in some schools and further motivate others in their efforts to improve literacy and numeracy achievement. To this end a series of eighteen vignettes (narratives) have been produced for schools identified as performing above what might be expected for ‘like schools’ against the ICSEA Index as indicated on ACARA’s MySchool website.
