Overview
myResearch provides HDR candidates with quick access to information about your candidature and services and resources to assist you as you progress through your study.

One of the first things you will notice is the timeline across the top of the myResearch page. Your key milestones will be mapped on this timeline. Use the arrows to navigate through the timeline.

Above the timeline are links to level 2 pages. All these links relate to you as a research candidate.

In the centre of the page is a summary of your candidature information. Your candidature milestone dates are displayed as well as your research or thesis topic.

The I want to… panel provides quick access to important links which you may need during your candidature. These include links to Learning@Griffith, apply for leave, eResearch support and many others.

The contact details for your supervisors are listed in the bottom left panel. Please note, if the listed supervisors are not correct, you will need to complete a service request to change your supervisor details. Use the link for My Candidate Centre to create a service request.

The navigation tiles highlight services and resources which are important as you undertake your study. These may change as you progress through your candidature, so keep an eye on these tiles for links to important resources.

Finally the events section displays workshops and events which may assist you in your study.
