

How imprisonment policy affects community-level vulnerability to loneliness

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Shannon Walding
Griffith Criminology Institute,
Griffith University

s.walding@griffith.edu.au

Australian Research Council

- The project is funded by an Australian Research Council Discovery Project Grant #2201000079.

New South Wales

- The authors acknowledge the NSW Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research for their direct technical assistance involving the provision of NSW prison admissions data, and as the source of NSW crime statistics data.
- The authors acknowledge the assistance of Corrective Services NSW in the provision of NSW prison census data.

Victoria

- The authors acknowledge the participation and assistance of the Corrections Victoria Research Committee for their direct technical assistance in the provision of the data.
- The author/s acknowledge the Victorian Crime Statistics Agency as the source of Victorian crime statistics employed in this publication.

Queensland

- The authors acknowledge the participation and assistance of Queensland Corrective Services for their direct technical assistance in the provision of the data. The views and findings in this presentation cannot be considered as either endorsed by QCS or taken to represent the policies or views of QCS. Any errors of omission or commission are the responsibility of the researchers.

South Australia

- The authors acknowledge South Australia's Department of Correctional Services Research and Evaluation Management Committee. The views expressed in this report are not necessarily those of the Department of Correctional Services.

Western Australia

- The authors acknowledge the participation and assistance of the Western Australia Department of Justice for their direct technical assistance in the provision of the data. The views and findings in this presentation cannot be considered as either endorsed by the Department or an expression of the policies or view of the Department. Any errors of omission or commission are the responsibility of the researchers.
- The authors acknowledge the role of the WA Police Force in the research. This publication does not necessarily represent the policies or views of the WA Police Force.

Household, Income and Labour Dynamics in Australia Survey

- This paper uses unit record data from the Household, Income and Labour Dynamics in Australia (HILDA) Survey. The HILDA Project was initiated and is funded by the Australian Government Department of Social Services (DSS) and is managed by the Melbourne Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research (Melbourne Institute). The findings and views reported in this paper, however, are those of the author and should not be attributed to either DSS or the Melbourne Institute.

Griffith University Social Analytics Lab

- The authors gratefully acknowledge use of the services and facilities of the Social Analytics Lab at Griffith University.