Griffith Law and International Relations Graduate,
Rhodes Scholar

Some say knowledge is power. I think knowledge is the power to solve problems.

As a graduate lawyer from Griffith University, I’ve used what I know to help women in distress understand their rights.

Now I’m studying law at Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship to advance my knowledge in international law.

That’s what I love about knowledge. Whatever you want to change… the world or your career… the right knowledge will get you there.

Griffith University.
When you know more. You can do more.
