

Books and edited collections on restorative justice, 1994-2003

Compiled by Brigitte Bouhours and Kathleen Daly, May 2004

This list consists of books and edited collections on restorative justice (RJ) published in English from January 1994 to December 2003. Books and edited collections that are scheduled to come out early in 2004, but are not yet available to the public, are not included. Works related to the use of RJ in national adult and juvenile criminal justice systems, as well as in international contexts, are included; but those centred on Indigenous justice, truth commissions, or special tribunals are excluded. Booklets, pamphlets, reports, and professional guides are excluded, unless they include a strong theoretical or research background. Also excluded are special issues of journals devoted to RJ (e.g., British Journal of Criminology, 2002, Vol. 42, No. 3). Edited collections are included only if the whole volume is about RJ, but not if one chapter refers to RJ in a larger context (e.g., an edited collection about juvenile justice with one chapter on RJ would not be included).

Books included generally had a title that contained the words restorative justice, restorative, restoration, restoring, relational or transformative. Some texts are included although the title does not contain these words because the books are about RJ.

Acknowledgements: In preparing this list, we thank Gerry Johnstone, Russ Immarigeon, Declan Roche, and Heather Strang for their comments and suggestions.
