Your Griffith experience starts here

In a world of opportunities, Griffith will equip you with the knowledge, skills and support you need to get where you want to be. From day one, you’ll learn from some of Australia’s most awarded teachers and make valuable lifelong connections.

This guide will help you decide which undergraduate degree is right for you. If you have any questions, call us on 1800 677 728, chat online at griffith.edu.au/study or speak with us at one of our events—we’ll help you find the right path.
Why choose Griffith?

We’re proud to deliver an outstanding education that supports our students in facing the future with confidence, competence and the knowledge and skills to thrive in a rapidly changing world.

You come first
As a Griffith student, you’ll be supported in every aspect of your studies, from help with scholarships, career advice and study skills to finding employment opportunities through our Careers Recruitment team. Whether you need learning, personal or financial support, or anything else to make your time at university a more manageable and memorable experience, Griffith is here to help.

Creating a future for all
At Griffith, you’ll be welcomed into an inclusive community. Knowing that students learn in a variety of ways—and that high school results aren’t the only indicators of a person’s aptitude—we are pleased to offer a range of admission pathways to study with us. From providing bridging courses to recognising Vocational Education and Training (VET) qualifications and beyond, we are committed to giving every student the means to succeed and realise their full potential. See page 31 for more information.

Future-ready skills and knowledge
Innovative degrees
Our future-focused degrees are designed to prepare you for new opportunities in a fast-changing world. For example, with data science rising rapidly as an area of employment, we’ve introduced a range of double degrees that enable you to broaden your career outcomes by combining your degree with the dynamic world of big data.

Launching in 2021, the new Bachelor of Business includes built-in partnerships with industry to meet evolving employer needs and expectations. This gives you the space and time to find your place in the future of business by taking your lessons beyond the classroom.

Showcase your capabilities
During your studies, you’ll be supported to showcase your job-ready skills to employers through Griffith Credentials, our range of digital badges. Developed in response to changing employer needs, Griffith’s digital badges give you a new way to highlight practical, contemporary skills gained during your degree, such as interpersonal communication, critical judgment and the ability to work as part of a team.

Global connections
Many of our degrees have an international focus, preparing you for work almost anywhere in the world. You may have the chance to enrich and diversify your learning through overseas study or by learning a new language. Such opportunities are valued highly by employers, and open doors to new perspectives, professional networks and personal experiences.

Griffith has Guaranteed Exchange agreements with partner universities around the globe, including in Asia, North America, Europe and the United Kingdom. We also offer a range of study tours and work placements to help take your learning abroad. There’s a whole world out there—let us help you see it.
Why choose Griffith?

Associate Professor Susan Harris-Rimmer was named in Apolitical’s 100 Most Influential People in Gender Policy worldwide in 2018. The list honours and celebrates women and men making the world more equitable, whether they exert influence through policymaking, research or advocacy. As the Australian representative to the Women 20 (W20) engagement group, Sue has formulated concrete recommendations to advance gender equality in G20 negotiations. In 2017, she sat on the panel with Chancellor of Germany Angela Merkel at the W20 Summit in Berlin.

Be part of a worldwide community

When you’re studying, you’ll join a community of like-minded students. Once you graduate, your Griffith degree will be your passport to a global network of contacts. You’ll join an alumni community of more than 200,000 graduates who cover every corner of the world. Across multiple fields, our graduates range from groundbreaking medical researchers to globally recognised musicians, acclaimed lawyers to CEOs, and marine biologists through to multimedia designers. The world opens up for you when you graduate from Griffith.

Learn from the best

As the home of four Australian University Teachers of the Year, Griffith has a proud history of driving innovation and achievement in higher education. Our teachers and researchers have won more national awards in the past five years than any other university’s staff†, and our students who learn in this environment are renowned among employers for their skills, experience and work ethic.

Flexible study options

We’ve put a focus on flexibility. Depending on your degree, you’ll have the choice to study in person at one of our campuses, online through our Digital campus, or using a combination of both, either part-time or full-time over two or three trimesters.

Trimesters

We teach across three 12-week trimesters each year. Depending on your degree, you can pace your study or fast-track and graduate earlier. We have degrees starting in February, July or October, so you can choose when to start your Griffith journey.

Study online

Our online study options mean you can study, learn and connect when and where it suits you. About 40% of our students study at least one subject online.

Open more doors

Graduate with valuable connections and the skills, expertise and hands-on experience that employers want.

Griffith Law School prioritises hands-on skills and real-life experience from the first year, so you graduate with the perfect mix of theory and practice to maximise your employment prospects and make your mark on the world, wherever you work. Throughout your degree, our industry engagement officer will help you identify and pursue your career goals and provide you with the resources essential to graduate success.

Get the inside edge

At Griffith, you’ll get inside access to industry, with many of our degrees offering work placements, overseas field trips and industry projects for real clients. Griffith Law School connects you to the legal profession, before you even start your studies. Our orientation program broadens your understanding of careers in the legal profession by introducing you to industry representatives from the courts, lawyer and barrister associations and the community legal sector. Our graduate network of industry professionals will share their experiences and offer advice for making the most of your law degree.

Community driven professionals

Gain a deeper understanding of the law and the important role that judges play during our week-long Judge in Residence. We have hosted several sitting judges from the Supreme and District Courts of Queensland and the Federal Court of Australia who have shared their legal knowledge and recommendations for entering the legal profession. Griffith Law School is a community that enriches the next generation of lawyers. Our global network of graduates is diverse and graduates regularly give back, whether they are coaching students for moots, or offering career advice or internships in their workplaces. Our students benefit from the ongoing connection Griffith Law School maintains with our experienced graduates all over the world.

Griffith Legal Clinic partners

Griffith Law School helped pioneer clinical legal education in Queensland and because of our approach we have maintained successful partnerships with many industry organisations, ranging from multinational commercial law firms to community legal centres that rely on volunteers. Griffith legal clinics give you the chance to work on real cases with real clients in a supervised environment. We understand how to meet the needs of our clinical partners and our students, so that you can get the very best from your practical experience.

Industry events

Industry events and networking functions held on campus give you the opportunity to meet professionals and potential employers. Make valuable connections before you graduate and give yourself the best chance of success. Learn about undergraduate and graduate programs and get an edge over other applicants with top tips from presenting employers. Events are listed at griffith.edu.au/careers

Engaged Student Associations

Griffith Law School has two very active student associations—Griffith University Law Society based in Brisbane and the Griffith Law Students Association at the Gold Coast. These student associations support law students in all aspects of their academic, personal and professional development. From an annual Law Ball, and career seminars to a peer mentoring program connecting first year students with senior students, our student law associations help ensure that no matter where you study, you will be well connected to both your peers and industry. Visit guls.org and griffithlsa.org.au

The Innocence Project

The Innocence Project is a pro bono project that brings together lawyers, academics and Griffith law students to work to free people in prison who claim to have been wrongly convicted in Australia. Students work under the guidance of academics and the instruction of criminal law practitioners.
Law student Ethan Barr-Hamilton has turned his passion for social justice and innovation into a remarkable start to his career. The Bachelor of Laws (Graduate Entry) student was part of the 2018 Disrupting Law winning team that conceptualised ‘Cognicity’, an assessment tool for lawyers to determine the cognitive capacity of their clients. Law firm McCullough Robertson invited the team to share their award-winning idea to an audience of senior lawyers. ‘It’s amazing the opportunities a single event can bring,’ said Ethan. The Legal Forecast, a not-for-profit organisation that organises the annual event, has also invited Ethan to join their committee as a student representative. ‘Being a part of the Griffith Law School community has greatly improved my confidence. The lecturers help put us in touch with alumni and industry—that’s how I found out about the competition.’ This caps off a remarkable year for the first year law student, who also won the Griffith University Law Student Association Client Interview Competition.

I was attracted to Griffith for its focus on international business, and for being progressive and forward-thinking in view of our changing world.

Borcsa Vass’s skills as a barrister positioned her among the finalists in the Emergent Woman Lawyer of the Year category at the 2018 Women Lawyer of the Year Awards. The award recognises women who have been admitted to legal practice for five years or less. Admitted to the Bar in 2015, Borcsa has established a broad commercial law practice in Brisbane representing an array of clients and prosecuting various regulatory offences. Borcsa regularly appears in courts and tribunals and has appeared unled in the Queensland Court of Appeal and in numerous trials and appeals. “I always wanted to end up as a lawyer, seeing it as an opportunity to stand up for those who are unable to stand up for themselves,” said Borcsa. Reflecting on the rise of globalisation and technology, Borcsa chose to study a double degree in Law and International Business. “I was attracted to Griffith for its focus on international business, and for being progressive and forward thinking in view of our changing world,” she said.

Skills that go straight to work

Industry Mentoring Program
For over 25 years, our award-winning Industry Mentoring Program has connected Griffith students and graduates with industry professionals based in South East Queensland, interstate and internationally. Students engage with their Industry Mentors in person or online, leveraging our innovative mentoring platform to track their growth and progress. We support hundreds of mentoring relationships during Trimester 1 and 2 each year.

Through participation in the program, you will have the opportunity to broaden your professional networks and begin preparing for work and life after graduation. You'll be encouraged to seek information and guidance from your Industry Mentor, and use the insight gained from their experiences and expertise to inform decisions about your future.

Industry Mentors will help you gain a deeper understanding of your study area and give you an added edge to succeed. The program can support your career development and improve your chances of landing the perfect first job when you graduate. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/careers

Excel through a leadership program
You may be eligible to join Griffith’s Student Leadership Program. Comprising a two-day workshop and at least three leadership activities in a year, the program provides selected students with the chance to realise their full potential and engage meaningfully with the wider Griffith community. The program runs from the start of July until the end of May the following year, and participants will receive a digital badge and certificate to recognise their leadership contribution to the University.

There are many other student leadership opportunities available at Griffith, such as the Griffith Business School Student Leadership Program. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/student-business-leadership-program

You could also join Griffith Mates, a cross-cultural leadership program that connects international and domestic students, giving you a fresh perspective on the world around you. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/life-at-griffith/griffith-mates

Regardless of what you study, our leadership and mentoring programs are an ideal way to meet new people, develop your skills and give back to the Griffith community. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/financial-assistance-student-partnership

Rewarding innovation and entrepreneurship
At Griffith, there’s a range of ways that you can develop the skills to bring your innovative ideas to life. We’ll show you how to create opportunities, disrupt existing ways of thinking and doing, and create solutions that impact local and global problems. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/innovation-and-entrepreneurship

Find the right job

Careers and Employment Service
Griffith’s Careers and Employment Service can help you from your first year. Our team of accredited and qualified Career Development Practitioners are trained to assist you with all your career development needs. We can help you understand your career options, market yourself to employers, prepare for graduate job interviews, transition into graduate employment and find suitable employment while you’re studying.

You’ll also have access to Careerboard, our one-stop shop for advertised full-time, part-time and graduate jobs, career events and training sessions. Alternatively, you can also book an appointment with one of our career consultants. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/careers

Your own recruitment agency
Our Careers Recruitment team provides work opportunities that fit in with your studies. As a Griffith student, you can register with our recruitment agency to access a broad range of general and degree-related vacancies. These can help you support yourself through your degree and gain valuable skills to improve your employability before and after you graduate. Griffith Careers recruits for casual, part-time, project and full-time graduate positions. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/careers
Go global
Explore the world through your Griffith degree.

Change your outlook
Challenge yourself, impress your future employers, learn a new language, make lifelong connections, and discover the world at the same time. Through our Global Mobility program, we offer a variety of global learning experiences to diversify your degree and enhance your graduate outcomes.

As a Griffith student, you may have the chance to spend anywhere from a week to a year living and breathing a whole new global experience. Available opportunities include:

• trimester, winter and summer exchange
• global internships
• international volunteering
• overseas short courses
• academic-led study tours and field trips
• clinical placements
• research practicums
• overseas conferences and workshops

Find out if you’re eligible, how to apply, where you can go and what financial assistance is available at griffith.edu.au/go-global

Open up your learning
Look at the world in a whole new way with one of our international study tours or field trips. Each year, law students apply for spots on international moot teams for study credit. Students learn how to research compelling legal arguments and present them under pressure before reputable industry professionals. For example:

• Willem C Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot—Students travel to either Hong Kong or Vienna to compete against teams from across the globe. Griffith law students have been recognised for their skill and good sportsmanship, and have regularly made it through to the final rounds of the competition
• Jessup Moot Court Competition—One of the world’s largest moot competitions which involves a fictional dispute between countries before the International Court of Justice. Students compete in national qualifying rounds with a chance to progress to the international rounds.

As a Griffith student, you will find mentors in our community to help build your confidence and sharpen your legal skills. Our alumni, many of whom have competed in these international competitions, help prepare students through mentoring and coaching.

Learn a language and understand the world
As a Griffith student, you’ll have the option to learn a language while you’re studying overseas on exchange, or study a language through the Diploma of Languages, which you can undertake alongside any bachelor degree.

You can also study a language through the Bachelor of Languages and Linguistics, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Business, Bachelor of Advanced Business (Honours) or Bachelor of Government and International Relations.
Growing up in Zimbabwe as a Rwandan refugee has inspired Amiel Nubaha to become an advocate for displaced people. ‘I know what it is to be hungry, to be displaced from your country, and studying at Griffith has opened my eyes to the wider issues of human rights abuses facing displaced people globally.’ As president of the Rwanda Association of Queensland Inc, Amiel takes a proactive approach to improving cross-cultural ties between newly-settled Rwandans and the broader Australian community. He now plans to apply his degree to human rights advocacy for refugees. Amiel said Griffith’s Student Exchange Program was the highlight of his studies, when he spent a semester in Taiwan. ‘There is so much a country like Rwanda can learn from Taiwan,’ he said. ‘I also found Griffith very strong in terms of cultural diversity and felt a complete connection with the university community during my studies,’ he said.

Griffith Honours College

If you’re a high-achieving student and keen to enhance your university experience through extracurricular activities, the Griffith Honours College can help you reach your full potential.

The Griffith Honours College experience will provide you with skills and opportunities that help you stand out from the crowd when you graduate.

You’ll have opportunities to enrich your university study with mentoring, international experiences, leadership roles, volunteering, research opportunities and community engagement activities.

What are the benefits?
As a Griffith Honours College student, you will:

- take part in regular one-on-one sessions with a mentor who’ll guide you through university and help you achieve your professional goals
- be supported to gain a global perspective through studying, participating in travel abroad programs or working overseas
- be provided with opportunities to lead and support local, national and international community and volunteering initiatives
- be recognised as a high-achieving student in the Griffith community.

Are you eligible?
Applications to the Griffith Honours College are open to students continuing straight from high school and mature students who are undertaking their first undergraduate degree. International students meeting the eligibility criteria can also apply.

To be eligible, you must have Griffith University as a preference on your QTAC or UAC application and have an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) above 95.00 (including International Baccalaureate (IB) and interstate equivalent ATAR). Applicants expecting an ATAR above 88.00 (including IB and interstate equivalent ATAR) with exceptional personal achievements may be considered.

How to apply
To apply to the Griffith Honours College, you need to complete the combined Deans’ Sir Samuel Griffith Scholarship/Sir Samuel Griffith Scholarship application. Successful applicants for the Deans’ Sir Samuel Griffith and Sir Samuel Griffith scholarships are automatically given membership of the Griffith Honours College. Other applicants will be evaluated on the basis of their academic achievements and commitment to service.

Applications open mid-July 2020 for study in 2021. You can apply online at griffith.edu.au/griffith-honours-college or email honourscollege@griffith.edu.au for more information.

‘Griffith Honours College has been incredibly beneficial to me.’

Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Bachelor of Government and International Relations
After being awarded a Sir Samuel Griffith Scholarship, Inez Botta-Stanwell was determined to make the most of the opportunities available at Griffith. Inez was accepted into the Griffith Honours College program and was also awarded a New Colombo Plan scholarship. This took her to Beijing and led to an internship at the High Court of Hong Kong. She enjoyed a semester exchange in Medellín, Colombia and was named 2017 Una Prentice Award winner with the highest GPA of any female law student. Now working in the Projects and Developments team for top-tier law firm Allens, Inez often reflects on the experience she gained at Griffith and the friendships that have endured long since graduating. ‘I chose to study law to provide me with skills and knowledge which would be an asset for a variety of different career paths whether as a lawyer, policy officer, or diplomat,’ she said.

‘Studying law at Griffith was life-defining and one of the most rewarding things I’ve achieved.’

Bachelor of Laws (First Class Honours) graduate Aimee Mundt is a commercial litigation lawyer with a strong social conscience. She co-founded the Animal Law Institute, a nationwide not-for-profit dedicated to protecting and advocating for the rights and wellbeing of animals. She also created the Australia and New Zealand Intervarsity Moot on Animal Law which has grown over the past five years to be one of the biggest annual student competitions.

Aimee said that Griffith Law School’s commitment to social justice motivated her to choose Griffith. ‘Studying law at Griffith was life-defining and one of the most rewarding things I’ve achieved. Without realising it, studying law gradually changes the lens through which you view the world and solve problems,’ she said. In the future, Aimee hopes to expand the Animal Law Institute to employ full-time lawyers for animal protection cases and advocacy campaigns.
Study among the best

When you study law at Griffith, you’re studying among the world’s best. Griffith was the highest ranked Australian university for law in the 2019 Academic Ranking of World Universities. Law at Griffith was also awarded five stars for skills development by the Good Universities Guide 2020, so you can be confident you’ll graduate with the skills you need to succeed. You’ll learn from award-winning teachers who have been recognised nationally and internationally for their outstanding work, and you will join the ranks of successful Griffith law graduates.

Join an in-demand community

Griffith Law School graduates are making their mark in a variety of sectors across Australia and internationally, including in top law firms. As a law student, you’ll have the opportunity to network with a cross-section of Queensland’s legal experts at regular events and be supported by our community of Griffith law graduates through mentorships, work experience opportunities and more.

Experience law beyond the classroom

We equip you to deal with contemporary issues through a perfect balance of legal theory and practice, right from your first year of study. You’ll gain extensive practical experience through moots, court visits, industry networking and legal clinics. The Griffith Legal Clinic program offers one of the broadest ranges of clinical options in Australia. You’ll have an opportunity to engage in legal practice, policy work and community legal education with our wide range of clinic partners. You’ll gain hands-on experience in a structured environment, working with real clients and cases.

Gain an international perspective

At Griffith Law School, we are committed to social justice and believe in law as a powerful instrument of change. Therefore, you’ll be equipped with knowledge of the world beyond our borders. Through courses in global law, exchanges with partner universities in North America, Europe or Asia, and opportunities to participate in international competitions, you’ll graduate with valuable international experience and a global perspective, formidably positioned to help create change both locally and internationally.

What you’ll study

When you study with the university that is ranked #1 for law in Australia†, you are preparing to tackle the unique challenges of our modern, high-tech, globalised society. We’ll give you the progressive practical experience, support, international opportunities, networks and theory to shape your ideal legal career and make your mark whether that’s in traditional law or beyond.

We are committed to social justice and believe in law as a powerful instrument of change, so you’ll not only understand the law, but have the knowledge and skills to challenge it. You’ll develop in-depth knowledge of legal principles and practice, while also learning essential legal skills in areas such as negotiation, critical analysis of law, written and oral advocacy and legal writing.

You’ll study all courses required for admission to legal practice.

You can also extend the scope of your legal expertise by choosing from a range of electives across five areas:

- global law and governance
- law and commerce
- environment and social justice
- theories and contexts of law
- clinical and professional legal practice, which includes clinical courses that emphasise practical legal skills, insights and experience.

We also offer five Canadian law courses for students seeking admission to practice in Canada.

‘Since joining Griffith, I’ve really developed many valuable skills through competitions and opportunities that are there for students.’

Stebin Sam
Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Arts
You’ll have access to practical experience from your first year of study, through moots, court visits, and industry networking. You’ll also have the opportunity to gain hands-on experience in a structured environment, working with real clients and cases through the Griffith Legal Clinic program. Griffith offers one of the broadest ranges of legal clinics in Australia. You can engage in legal practice, policy work and community legal education through our established relationships with numerous clinic partners.

Griffith Law School legal clinics include:

- Advanced Family Law: assist people with family law issues at Caxton Legal Centre.
- Internship Clinic: assist with legal work in a law firm, such as Minter Ellison; a government department, such as the Director of Public Prosecutions; or the legal department of a corporation, such as Virgin Australia.
- The Innocence Project: work under supervision to review cases where a person is claiming wrongful conviction.
- Social Justice Lawyering: work with LawRight, a not-for-profit which coordinates pro bono legal services for individuals and community groups in Queensland.
- Refugee Law and Policy Clinic: work one day per week during semester for the Refugee and Immigration Legal Service.
- Street Law: provide engaging community legal education tailored to meet the interests of high school students.
- Community Lawyering Clinic: work one day per week during semester at the Gold Coast Community Legal Clinic.
- International Experience Clinic: engage in a different legal system and analyse the legal issues encountered.

You can also opt for an individual placement in a variety of legal environments through our Trimester in Practice course.

Honours

All Griffith law graduates will receive an honours degree. As part of your final year of study, you will complete two large projects. However, if you are interested in research, or are considering a PhD, you can opt to complete the research methods course and write a thesis, giving you flexibility in your choice of study pathway.

Professional recognition

The Griffith Law School Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB) degree satisfies the academic requirements for admission to legal practice. Completing your LLB is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Admissions Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work.

International professional recognition

Griffith’s Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB) is also accepted for entry into the legal profession in Canada’s common law provinces, when accompanied by a Certificate of Qualification from the National Committee on Accreditation (NCA) of the Federation of Law Societies of Canada. You will need to complete the five Canadian Law courses offered as electives as part of your law degree to help you prepare for the NCA exams.

Students from Sabah or Sarawak who have a Griffith law degree and wish to return to Sabah or Sarawak to practice law may do so providing they gain admission to practice in an Australian jurisdiction first and then fulfil additional requirements upon their return to Sabah or Sarawak.

Career opportunities

This degree opens up a range of career opportunities within and beyond the legal environment. After gaining professional recognition, you’ll be prepared for a career as a solicitor or barrister. Your degree could also pave the way for work as a lawyer in a law firm or large Australian or international corporation, a policymaker or law reformer working in the government or community sector, a human rights defender, or for a non-legal career as a journalist, politician, investment banker or management consultant. You could find opportunities in areas such as academia, administration, banking, finance, industrial relations, management and marketing.
Double degrees

Double your degree, multiply your opportunities.

Griffith double degrees combine industry-related areas to prepare you for opportunities in a fast-changing world.

You can choose to combine two degrees from associated fields to become a specialist, or degrees from different areas of interest to broaden your career choices. With our extensive range of study areas, you’re bound to find a combination that’s right for you.

Why choose a double degree?

- Improve your employment outcomes—increase your chances of landing the job you want.*
- Save time and money—it takes less time to do a double degree than to study both degrees separately, saving you money.
- Develop a unique skill set—combine two areas of study and gain an edge in the job market.
- Follow your passion—study what you love and complete a professional qualification.
- Gain two qualifications—graduate with the skills to work across different levels.
- Expand your network—find more opportunities with a diverse network of valuable contacts.

* Source: Graduate Careers Australia

How does it work?

When you study a double degree, you’ll complete the two degrees at the same time, usually over four or five years. As a double degree graduate, you’ll receive two degree certificates—one for each qualification.

Final year capstone course

In your final year of study, you’ll complete a capstone course that will bring together the knowledge and skills you’ve gained in each component of your double degree.

Hands-on industry experience

Our double degrees include opportunities for industry internships and work placements, so you’ll make practical connections within and between each of your areas of study.

Finish faster

With our trimester calendar, you may have the option to complete a double degree in the same length of time as a single degree by taking courses (subject to availability) in every trimester each year.

Pekeri Ruska is a Goenpul woman from North Stradbroke Island, Queensland. Pekeri completed a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Arts and was named Griffith University’s 2019 Outstanding First Peoples Alumnus winner in the Arts, Education and Law Group category. She has an inherent passion for social justice matters and at the core of her work is a commitment to improving the lives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples. Her legal training and commitment to her community led to her appointment as General Manager of the North Stradbroke Island Aboriginal and Islanders Housing Co-operative. Pekeri is recognised as an important and skilled young leader who is involved in a range of political, legal and social activities on behalf of the Stradbroke Island Aboriginal community.

What you’ll study
If you want to play a legal role within the arts or the influential media industry, this double degree will suit you. You’ll learn about contemporary culture and society, media and the arts, and languages and cultures. You’ll team this with the legal skills and knowledge needed for a career in law. You may choose to pursue a legal career, combine your skills to work as a specialist media or arts lawyer, or use your arts qualification to take advantage of a wide spectrum of career opportunities.

Majors
In the Bachelor of Arts component, you can choose to study a single major with electives, or a double major. You can choose to specialise in the following areas: Art History and Theory; Australian Studies; Communication and Journalism; Creative Writing; Criminal Justice; Drama; Gender Studies; History; Indigenous Studies; Islam–West Relations; Journalism; Language in Society; Languages (Chinese, French*, German*, Indonesian*, Italian, Japanese, Korean*, Modern Greek*, Russian* and Spanish); Literary Studies; Politics and International Studies; Popular Culture; Psychology; Strategic Communication and Public Relations; Screen Studies; Security Studies; Sociology; or Social Justice.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

Professional recognition
Completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work.

See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

Career opportunities
Your dual qualifications will prepare you for a career in legal practice, specialising in media or arts law, other areas of law, or in the arts, media organisations, business or government.

‘The opportunities I had to engage with the profession ultimately led me to my dream job.’

What you’ll study
With this double degree, you’ll develop an understanding of the fundamentals of business and specialised legal skills.

As a graduate, you’ll be prepared to help organisations make crucial decisions that can affect their success. In the law component, you’ll focus on core areas of legal practice and crucial legal knowledge. You will have the opportunity to gain practical legal skills, insights and experience through clinical courses. In the business component, you’ll learn about core business concepts before focusing on your chosen major.

Majors
Bachelor of Business majors include: Accounting; Asian Business; Asian Studies; Behavioural Science; Economics; Employment Relations; Event Management; Finance; Financial Planning; Government and International Relations; Human Resource Management; Innovation and Entrepreneurship; International Business; Logistics and Supply Chain Management; Management; Marketing; Real Estate and Property Development; Sport Management; Sustainable Business; and Tourism Management.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

Professional recognition
Completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work.

See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

Depending on your business major, you may also be eligible for admission into one or more of these professional bodies:

- Australian Human Resources Institute
- Australian Marketing Institute
- Chartered Institute of Purchasing and Supply

Career opportunities
The corporate world values graduates in law and business. As a graduate, you’ll have knowledge and skills in two disciplines that are in strong demand across the private and public sectors. You’ll be prepared for a career in professional legal practice, commerce and industry, human resources, marketing, management, or the public service.

Gold Coast-based mortgage lawyer Jack O’Reilly completed a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Business. He chose Griffith because of the double degree option and its strong reputation as a leading Queensland university. As Director and Founder of financial technology platform, funding.com.au, Jack oversees a growing team. He says the business side of his degree gave him a good grounding in marketing, management and human resources. His business acumen was acknowledged in 2018 with a Young Leaders in Finance CEO Award. ‘My advice to those considering a career in law is to discover the possibilities law can offer. It sets you up for many things from working in a firm to being in business. It can take you wherever you want to go.’ Jack said.

Matthew Williams was named a finalist in the Lawyers Weekly 30 Under 30 Awards. A solicitor in the Federal and High Court of Australia, Matthew attributes his career success to Griffith’s practical learning experiences and being taught by lecturers leading in their respective fields. ‘The relationships that I established with staff and colleagues, who are now also among Queensland’s leading lawyers, have been invaluable to my career progression,’ he said. Matthew’s career in law has also unlocked other opportunities, such as opening a restaurant/bar in Southport. Matthew is currently a Director of MKW Legal, Vice President of the Southport Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Gold Coast District Law Association and Australian and New Zealand Sports Law Association.

Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Business (Finance)
What you’ll study

Combining your studies of law with studies in criminology and criminal justice will give you a holistic view and thorough understanding of the intersection between crime and the law.

Criminology deals with the causes of crime and the treatment of criminals, making it highly beneficial to criminal lawyers. It draws on insights from many fields of study, including psychology, law, sociology, politics and social work. In this double degree, you’ll develop the academic and professional knowledge, along with the analytical and practical skills you’ll need for a professional career in law, criminology and criminal justice. You’ll also gain an understanding of the complex environments in which crime occurs and the changing nature of legal responses.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

Professional recognition

Completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work.

See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

As a graduate of the Bachelor of Criminology and Criminal Justice, you’ll be eligible to join the Australian and New Zealand Society of Criminology.

Career opportunities

Studies in law and criminology and criminal justice are complementary and a double degree will expand your career opportunities across the legal, crime prevention and criminal justice professions.

With a Bachelor of Laws (Honours) you will be prepared for a career as a solicitor or barrister, after gaining professional recognition, along with many other options. The Bachelor of Criminology and Criminal Justice will offer you opportunities in policing and security, intelligence, probation and parole, child protection, crime analysis, courts and justice services, crime prevention and regulatory agencies. You will be prepared for a career in areas such as law enforcement, working directly with offenders in welfare and counselling roles, and in criminological research and policy roles. You can also find opportunities in business and government and in areas such as academia, administration, banking, finance, industrial relations, and management.

‘Being able to accelerate my degree through the trimester system is also beneficial as I will complete my degree in four years.’

Hannah Wallace
Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Criminology and Criminal Justice
I chose to study law at Griffith because the degree is the most hands-on, practical, real-world and socially aware degree.

Kiarah Kelly
Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Government and International Relations

What you’ll study
Combining government and international relations with law will help you develop a solid understanding of the world we live in. You’ll learn about the forces that shape politics, public administration and international affairs.

In the law component, you’ll undertake core courses necessary for admission to practice, as well as have an opportunity to study elective courses in areas such as professional legal practice and clinics, global and international law, law and commerce, theories of law, and social justice and the environment. You’ll also develop interdisciplinary understandings of law and legal work.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

In the government and international relations component, you will learn about political institutions and processes, business—government relations, and foreign policy and globalisation. In your first year, you will develop your understanding of politics and international relations. In your second and third years, you will expand this knowledge and complete either a parliamentary internship or a work placement.

Majors
In the Bachelor of Government and International Relations you can select a major in either International Relations or Politics and Public Policy.

Professional recognition
Completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work. As a graduate, you may also be eligible for membership of the Institute of Public Administration Australia.

See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

Career opportunities
You’ll be prepared for a career in the legal profession, with a special interest in public law or international issues. You’ll also find employment in areas such as diplomacy, strategic analysis or trade relations, in international aid and non-government organisations, or in businesses with overseas profiles.
What you’ll study

Combining law with psychological science will give you a unique skill set that will prepare you for work either in the community sector or in commerce and industry. You’ll also develop analytical, research and communication skills.

In the psychological science component, you’ll learn how to apply psychological theories to topics such as thinking and perceiving, motivation, stress, health, criminal activity, and group behaviour. You’ll also learn how to evaluate and understand tests that measure intellectual, behavioural and emotional states.

You’ll develop interpersonal and communication skills and learn about the principles of counselling and core areas of psychology. You’ll learn how to help people with personal, health, vocational and social difficulties and undertake a professional practice placement to enhance your skills. Visit griffith.edu.au/health/placement-essentials for details.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work. See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

Program accreditation

The Bachelor of Psychological Science is accredited by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC). As a psychological science graduate, you can choose to undertake a further year of study (honours or postgraduate study) making you eligible for associate membership of the Australian Psychological Society and general provisional registration, with probationary conditions, as a psychologist in Queensland with the Psychology Board of Australia.

Career opportunities

You’ll be prepared for work in community legal centres or in other support organisations and in business organisations. You’ll also be well positioned to seek a career in forensic psychology.

‘Griffith taught me that through education, advocacy and visibility, we can make a difference in our community.’

Dean Clifford-Jones

Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Bachelor of International Business
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Bachelor of Environmental Science

What you’ll study
Environmental problems generally involve issues of science, technology, economics, law and human values. In this double degree, you’ll explore how understanding these issues can help resolve environmental problems.

You’ll develop an understanding of environmental economics, environmental ethics, environmental law and governance and the national and international policy context, and their relevance to environmental management. You’ll be equipped with the skills required of an environmental practitioner and will have the opportunity to undertake capstone projects or an industry placement.

See page 16 for a detailed description of the law component.

Professional recognition
Completing the Bachelor of Laws (Honours) is the first step towards being admitted as a legal practitioner. To be admitted, you must undertake additional legal training and meet the requirements of the Legal Practitioners Board in the Australian state or territory in which you are going to work.

See page 17 for information on professional recognition for Malaysian students and entry into the legal profession in Canada.

Career opportunities
You’ll be prepared for professional practice in environmental and planning law, and careers in government, industry, environmental organisations and development companies.

With a passion for the environment, Cassie initially enrolled in a Bachelor of Science (Environment). She was introduced to law during an environmental sustainability course and saw its potential to help her change the world. She soon added law as a double degree. Now in her fourth year, she combined her passions of environmental sustainability and law with a six-week internship with EnerGaia, a Bangkok-based company specialising in producing fresh and sustainable spirulina. ‘My role involved negotiating international contracts, trademark applications, patenting and governance,’ she said.

Cassie said one of the highlights of studying at Griffith was the industry engagement, community internships and mentoring programs. ‘Griffith is a really welcoming environment. I never felt there were any limitations on what I can do. The Griffith experience has been incredible.’

Important things to know about applying to study at Griffith

This information relates to the following applicant types applying to study at Griffith University:

- Australian citizens
- Australian Permanent Residents (holders of all categories of permanent resident visas, including humanitarian visas)
- New Zealand citizens.

Things to consider when choosing the correct pathway can depend on your prior knowledge, how comfortable you are in the study level, and for which degree you are applying. The above advice may not apply for competitive degrees. If undertaking other studies to upgrade, then it is important that you receive the right advice prior to commencing, to ensure that the study will meet your requirements.

Admissions pathways

If you have not met the admission requirements through your high school studies, there are other admission pathways that can help you upgrade to your preferred degree, or to satisfy subject prerequisites. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/pathways

Eligibility

Subject prerequisites

All Griffith degrees have English as a subject prerequisite. This is achieved through completing a General English subject (including English, English as an Additional Language, Literature or English & Literature Extension) in years 11 and 12 with a minimum grade of C in Units 3 & 4, or equivalent. Some of our degrees have additional prerequisites. If you have not met the prerequisite requirements for a degree, you may be able to complete a bridging course.

To check that your study meets the prerequisite requirement, or to find a suitable bridging course, visit griffith.edu.au/prerequisites-assumed-knowledge

You can also look for other degrees that may provide a pathway to your preferred degree. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/pathways
Merit
Eligible Year 12 students in Queensland receive an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) based on their performance in senior secondary school subjects. Some high schools also offer the Diploma of the International Baccalaureate (IB) program.

Assumed knowledge
Some degrees assume you have studied certain subjects at school (or equivalent studies) and that you’ll be able to build on this knowledge at university. If you haven’t completed these subjects or do not have the recommended level of prior knowledge, you may still be made an offer. However, if you want to gain this knowledge, you can take one of our bridging courses.

Recommended studies
Recommended studies are listed to encourage applicants to consider these foundational content areas. However, they are not as crucial as assumed knowledge. If you haven’t studied these subjects, or their equivalent, and want to gain this knowledge, you can take one of our bridging courses.

Adjustment factor pathways
Adjustment factor pathways can improve your chances of getting into your preferred degree by recognising your academic achievements or personal circumstances. Our Adjustment factor pathways include the Gold Coast and Logan Priority Access Pathway, Education Access Scheme (EAS), Elite Athlete Adjustment Factors and Year 12 Subject Adjustment Pathway. The maximum adjustments that you can receive under all pathways is capped at eight (8). For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/adjustment-factor-pathways

Experience
Some degrees, in particular those offered at the Queensland Conservatorium, require applicants to attend an audition. Education degrees require applicants to submit a Teaching Personal Statement. You can find specific information about these requirements at griffith.edu.au/degrees

English language requirements
If your previous study was undertaken in a language other than English, or completed outside Australia, you may need to demonstrate your level of reading, writing and comprehension of English. The English language proficiency requirements vary between degrees and are listed on our degree and career finder at griffith.edu.au/degrees

Guaranteed Admission Scheme
To provide more opportunities for students from a range of backgrounds, the Guaranteed Admission Scheme includes guaranteed admission for ATAR 80+ students, ATAR 90+ students, and those who have completed a VET qualification. Open to school leavers as well as mature students, the Guaranteed Admission Scheme is our way of giving you more certainty about your future study choices. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/guaranteed-admission

Offer timing
QTAC and UAC offers
Griffith generally commences making offers to eligible mature students from November for the next Trimester 2 intake, March for Trimester 3 and August for Trimester 1 the following year. For Trimester 2 and 3 applications, you can receive your offer within weeks. Year 12 students may receive an offer as soon as results are released in December, which can assist with organising accommodation, changing preferences or seeking other admission pathways. Most degrees will participate in the December round. Offers to a small number of degrees are made only during the mid-January offer round. This means you must wait until this date before you receive an offer. To check degrees and their offer round dates, visit qtac.edu.au and uac.edu.au

Student accommodation
If you’re thinking of living on-campus, or off-campus with one of our preferred providers, submit your application as soon as possible. Accommodation offers are based on distance from the University and time of application. Successful applicants will be notified after QTAC and UAC offers are made. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/accommodation

Costs
You can find indicative fees for specific degrees via our study website. Domestic students studying an undergraduate degree may be eligible for a Commonwealth Supported Place. This means you pay a student contribution for your degree, with most of the cost covered by the Australian Government, through the HECS-HELP scheme. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/students/enrolment-timetables-fees/paying-your-fees

Application options
Deferment
Deferment allows you to delay the start of your studies while still securing your offer. Deferment is not available for all degrees, and cannot exceed 12 months. You can request to defer after you receive an offer by selecting the deferment option when you respond to your QTAC offer. For UAC, you can email deferred@griffith.edu.au to request deferment.

Internal transfer
Once you have been admitted to Griffith, some degrees give you the option of applying for an internal transfer to another degree. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/apply/internal-transfer
Griffith College

Located at Mt Gravatt and Gold Coast campuses, Griffith College is your pathway to successful further study.

Another way to uni
After completing a Griffith College diploma, you’ll be eligible for entry to second year* of a Griffith University bachelor degree. Griffith College programs are equivalent to university-level study, and you’ll learn in a supportive environment, which means you’ll be prepared for success in your bachelor degree and lose no time graduating.

Fast-track your studies
With our flexible trimester system, you can study the equivalent of the first year of university in only eight months and progress* to your bachelor degree sooner.

A supportive learning environment
With small class sizes, opportunities for interaction with your teachers, study skills workshops and peer support, Griffith College will help you achieve your best.

On campus from day one
Situated at the Gold Coast and Mt Gravatt campuses, Griffith College gives you access to university facilities so you can become part of the Griffith community from day one.

Progress to second-year university
The College offers 11 diploma programs providing access to the second year* of a wide range of Griffith bachelor degrees across diverse study areas such as arts, commerce, hotel management, psychology, IT, science, nursing, health sciences, engineering, criminology and design, over two trimesters.

For information on Griffith College fees, entry requirements and credit transfer, visit griffith.edu.au/college

Foundation Program
Griffith College also offers a Foundation Program, which is a bridging course for students who didn’t finish senior studies in high school. You’ll be trained in the knowledge and skills needed for successful university study and gain the prerequisites for specific Griffith University degrees. Griffith College Foundation Program graduates are eligible to apply for many Griffith College diplomas and Griffith University degrees via direct application.

* Entry into second year is dependent on successfully completing the Griffith College program and meeting degree admission requirements. In their second or third year of the degree, students must complete any first-year core courses for which credit transfer has not been granted.

‘It’s all about having an open mind and learning as much as you can to improve your personal development.’

David Watson
Bachelor of Criminology and Criminal Justice
Griffith recognises vocational education and training (VET) as a highly effective pathway to our university.

We accept standalone VET qualifications completed at high school, TAFE or through a private provider. Depending on your study choices, you may be eligible for guaranteed admission into one of a range of our undergraduate degrees. For more information, see page 29, or visit griffith.edu.au/guaranteed-admission.

We also encourage high school students to achieve an ATAR.

Certificates III and IV

If you complete an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) Certificate III or IV while at high school, TAFE or through a private provider, you can apply through QTAC to study a range of our degrees.

With the exception of the Certificate IV in Adult Tertiary Preparation, a Certificate III or IV does not meet the English subject prerequisite.

For admission in 2021, you can satisfy the English prerequisite by achieving a C grade in Units 3 & 4 in a General English subject in years 11 and 12. If you completed Year 12 interstate, your previous study may also meet the English prerequisite. If you did not undertake Year 12, you may wish to complete a bridging or enabling program in order to meet the English prerequisite. More information is available at griffith.edu.au/pathways.

Diplomas and Advanced Diplomas

If you complete an AQF Diploma or Advanced Diploma while at high school, you too can apply through QTAC for a number of undergraduate degrees at Griffith. AQF Diplomas and Advanced Diplomas both meet the English subject prerequisite for admission.

If you complete your Diploma qualification at TAFE, the TAFE Admission Pathway will allow you to apply for direct admission into the next intake of a number of Griffith undergraduate degrees. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/pathways.

When you are accepted into Griffith, you may apply for credit transfer, which may reduce the time it will take to complete your degree. Find out more at griffith.edu.au/credit.

Previous Year 12 study may count

If it has been five, 10 or even 20 years since you completed Year 12, your OP or TE Score may be current and may be used to admit you to Griffith. Talk to us about this option and we’ll explain more.

Eligible degrees

If you have completed a Certificate III, IV or a Diploma, and meet the English prerequisite, you may be eligible for a place in one of our degrees. These degrees are identified in the degrees section in this guide, starting on page 16. For specific VET pathway information, see the Griffith Degree Finder at griffith.edu.au/degrees.

Further information about prerequisite subjects and bridging courses is available at griffith.edu.au/prerequisites-assumed-knowledge.

Applicants with VET qualifications may not be offered a place if the lowest selection rank is higher than the equivalent rank for the VET qualification. Quotas may apply to some degrees. This information is subject to change. Applicants should check griffith.edu.au/degrees for the latest information.
Griffith Sports College

Access support to balance the high demands of elite sport with your university studies.

Griffith has one of the highest numbers of elite athlete students in the country. Through the Griffith Sports College (GSC), we provide dedicated assistance for more than 550 student athletes, helping them successfully balance the high demands of elite sport and university life. Our distinguished alumni include 55 Olympians, 10 Paralympians and more than 30 Commonwealth Games athletes.

High performance the whole way

The GSC offers you many benefits. These include:

- consideration for program admission flexibility
- direct admission
- personalised degree advice and course planning
- timetabling assistance to allow for sporting commitments
- class attendance flexibility
- the opportunity to study with other institutions
- assessment and exam benefits, such as extensions, deferred exams or alternative arrangements
- support with special consideration requests
- flexibility to study interstate, with online options
- funding for specific sporting events
- access and special rates for physiotherapy and sports science services
- tutoring assistance (subject to availability).

Support from the very best

The GSC has a wealth of sporting and academic knowledge within its team, which includes Olympic gold medalists Duncan Free OAM (GSC Director) and Naomi McCarthy (nee Castle) OAM (GSC Manager). Both Duncan and Naomi are Griffith alumni and understand the demands elite athletes face, trying to juggle training, competition and study. You’ll have access to valuable mentoring and direct athlete support.

Are you eligible?

If you compete at state, national or international level in your sport, you may be eligible to join the GSC. Elite athletes (including coaches) are identified as participating in an Australian Institute of Sport (AIS) and Griffith University-recognised sport. We base eligibility on advice from state and national sporting organisations, professional sporting clubs and/or recognised player associations.

As part of the AIS Elite Athlete Friendly University network, we work one-on-one with students and directly with teaching staff to provide a supportive environment for athletes.

How to apply

You can download a GSC application form at griffith.edu.au/griffith-sports-college

Tom Nicholls studied a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Commerce double degree while pursuing a decade-long AFL career with the Gold Coast Suns. Tom says he undertook the degree to pursue an interest in practicing law. ’I’ve always had a mind for solving problems and helping underdogs so it was a good fit. A legal degree will give me a really good grounding and understanding of most corporate areas allowing me to work in a variety of roles. I would one day love to become CEO of the Gold Coast Suns.’ When it comes to balancing study and sport Tom has received support from the Griffith Sports College. ’The Griffith Sports College has been huge for me and my teammates,’ he said. ’From practical issues such as timetables, exam deferrals and use of their office space, to going above and beyond and supporting me in my work/life/study balance. They really have student athletes’ best interests at heart.’

First Peoples

With the highest Indigenous student population of any Queensland university, Griffith is committed to championing the culture, knowledge and experiences of our Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

Support where it counts

The GUMURRII Student Success Unit (SSU) is Griffith University’s dedicated support unit for all First Peoples students. Our staff provide access to a range of supplementary services and support including assistance with recruitment, orientation and graduation.

With dedicated centres on each of Griffith’s campuses, GUMURRII staff are there for undergraduate and postgraduate students throughout their university journeys, and also for online students studying through the Digital campus.

GUMURRII SSU offers safe and culturally appropriate learning environs.

Griffith is also committed to closing the gap in health outcomes between Australia’s First Peoples and other Australians. That’s why, in 2016, the University began implementing the First Peoples Health Unit, which complements the activities of GUMURRII, the Office of Indigenous Community Engagement, Policy and Partnerships (ICEPP), the Indigenous Research Unit, and the broader University community.

The First Peoples Health Unit’s primary areas of focus are:

- Learning and teaching, to enhance First Peoples student and staff success
- Research, to further develop Griffith’s ability to improve health outcomes for First Peoples communities
- Engagement, to ensure the voices that need to be heard are being considered and prioritised
- Sustainability, in keeping with key University values, and
- Internationalisation, to initiate partnerships in First Peoples Health across national lines to enrich Griffith’s growing reputation for excellence, both at home and abroad.

Tutorial assistance

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Tutorial Assistance Program (ATSITAP) is a supplementary funding initiative that is offered in partnership with the Commonwealth Government and aims to improve First Peoples student retention, progression and success at Griffith University. The ATSITAP funding covers the costs of tutorial support to eligible students.

To register for ATSITAP, visit: griffith.edu.au/gumurrii-student-support-unit under Study Assistance.

Connect with culture

With a diverse, thriving and vibrant community of First Peoples students at Griffith, we generate opportunities for students to connect to country and culture all year-round. The University has a proud history of working with Elders, and developing First Peoples community engagement strategies and partnerships for community empowerment.

Griffith’s in-house Council of Elders provides guidance, leadership and support to the University and our First Peoples students and staff in addressing issues of importance to First Peoples communities. The council works across the University to encourage a genuine spirit of partnership, reconciliation and respect between First Peoples and non-Indigenous people at Griffith.

In addition, our ICEPP Office—which acts as the Council of Elders’ secretariat—provides further advice on Indigenous higher education, and works on initiatives that contribute to the spiritual, social, emotional, economic and educational wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, and international First Peoples.

In pursuit of these goals, ICEPP partners with organisations from around Australia and the world, including the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Higher Education Consortium, World Indigenous Nations Higher Education Consortium (WINHEC), World Indigenous Research Alliance, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Legal Service and many more.

For more information about Griffith’s commitment to our First Peoples communities, visit griffith.edu.au/first-peoples
Be supported

We offer support services to help you feel confident and succeed in your degree.

Orientation
To help you get settled into university life, we hold Orientation Week, or O-Week, the week before each trimester starts. You’ll meet other students, get familiar with our campuses, and have the chance to sign up for clubs and societies. As well as practical tours and information sessions, O-Week includes fun activities and social events, plus live music, food stalls and giveaways. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/orientation

Learning support services
Our libraries are the perfect place to study, providing spaces that are adaptable and comfortable. You can access services and resources, meet up for group study or find a space for individual work. In all our libraries we provide computers for study, laptops you can borrow, or you can even connect your own device to Griffith Wi-Fi.

Participate in our Earlybird workshops or upskill at your own pace with the libraries’ study modules designed to develop your academic, digital and library research skills. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/library/study

Peer Assisted Study Sessions
You can access Peer Assisted Study Sessions (PASS) for a wide range of courses. PASS is facilitated by student leaders who have previously completed the course and achieved excellent results. Participating in PASS will help you improve your grades, better understand course content, break down complex ideas and could even save you hours with smarter study methods.

Peer mentoring
At Griffith, successful continuing students provide commencing students with assistance to settle into university. These students are called peer mentors. Mentors help students get to know other students and staff, and understand the services available.

International students
If you’re from a non-English speaking background, you can improve your skills through EnglishHELP (English Higher Education Language Program). This free service offers individual support to help you build confidence with speaking and listening, improve your knowledge of grammar and your pronunciation, and learn to write academic reports. Explore EnglishHELP’s free online resources at griffith.edu.au/englishhelp

You’ll also have access to our International Student Advisors, who offer personal support and can help you with study-related issues. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/international-student-advisors

Transport, parking and childcare
Our campuses have easy-to-access public transport and parking.

Nathan campus provides two childcare centres offering quality education and care for children from three months of age to five years. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/childcare or email childcare@griffith.edu.au

Childcare facilities are also available close to the Logan, Mt Gravatt, Gold Coast, and South Bank campuses. These centres can be found on the mychild.gov.au website.

Personal support services
You can get the help you need to manage your life while you’re at university. All students have access to a range of personal support services and programs including:

- counselling, to help you when you need support with issues such as the transition from school, study, motivation, relationships, self-esteem, grief and loss, anxiety and stress
- job search and career development to build employability skills
- health services, such as bulk-billed medical consultations, specialist appointments, free nursing consultations and health information
- transition and support services for students from educationally disadvantaged backgrounds
- specialised support for students with disabilities
- chaplaincy, where you can discuss life’s challenges, explore spirituality, faith and social justice issues and meet other people interested in religious matters
- student financial support services for help with issues such as student loans, Centrelink payments and budgeting
- personal development programs to grow skills for life and study (resilience, adaptability, financial literacy, etc.).

You can access our services and programs in person, by phone or online. For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/student-services
Find a place to live
Griffith Accommodation and a range of private providers offer on-campus accommodation at most of our campuses. Living on-campus provides the opportunity to join a diverse international community, access university facilities and academic support, and make lifelong friends.

If you’d prefer a little more space between where you learn and where you live, Griffith also offers Homestay accommodation where students live with Australian families in a safe, culturally sensitive environment.

Griffith Accommodation offers a preferred partnership program with a selection of off-campus accommodation providers close to all campuses in Brisbane and the Gold Coast. To be a part of the partnership program, all providers must pass the University’s rigorous quality and safety standards.

Most of our partners offer discount rates on select room types for students, provided you apply through the Griffith University accommodation website. If you apply directly with the accommodation provider, you will not be able to receive the discounted rate.

For more information, visit griffith.edu.au/accommodation

Students with disabilities
We provide disability support services on all campuses. These services, coordinated through our Student Services office, enable students with disabilities to access and participate in our learning environment. Support includes:

- coordination of Auslan interpreters
- modifications to physical environments
- negotiation of reasonable adjustments for study and examinations
- access to assistive technology arrangements for required readings to be converted to accessible formats.

Future students should contact the Student Disability and Accessibility Service:
Phone: +61 (0)7 3735 7470
Email: disability@griffith.edu.au

If you are deaf or hard of hearing, you can contact the Disabilities Service Officer directly on:

Campuses

Each of our campuses has specialised areas of expertise and a wide range of facilities.

Gold Coast
Our most comprehensive campus, the Gold Coast offers teaching and research across nearly all disciplines, supported by a range of state-of-the-art facilities. Co-located with the Gold Coast University Hospital, it is one of the most exciting education precincts in Australia.

Nathan
Nathan, our foundation campus, is situated in tranquil, native bushland on the edge of Toohey Forest. It offers degrees across a range of disciplines and is home to world-class expertise in the environment, corporate sustainability, Asian studies and the emerging biosciences.

Mt Gravatt
Adjacent to Nathan campus with panoramic views to Brisbane, our Mt Gravatt campus is also situated on the edge of Toohey Forest. This campus is a leader in its academic focus on crime prevention and intervention, and is the base for research and teaching in criminology, education and psychology.

South Bank
Located in Brisbane’s cultural heart, the South Bank campus is renowned for excellence in the creative and performing arts. The campus encompasses the Queensland College of Art, Queensland Conservatorium, Griffith Film School and Griffith Graduate Centre.

Logan
Logan, our community-focused campus, is recognised as a national showcase of social inclusion in higher education through innovative partnerships, industry engagement and degree pathways. It is a leader in flexible learning options and has strong connections with the local community, hosting numerous sporting and cultural events.

Digital
Our Digital campus offers an extensive range of degrees online through a virtual community that provides the flexibility to study, learn, and connect anywhere, anytime. With 40% of Griffith students currently studying at least one course online through our Digital campus, it’s our third-largest and fastest-growing campus.
