Griffith UNIVERSITY

What is ‘Next Steps’?

Griffith University has a range of services to support positive employment outcomes for students with disabilities including unique partnerships with external organisations. Improve the next steps on your career journey.

Griffith Disabilities Service partnerships

Griffith Disabilities Service aims to promote partnerships and resources which support students who are seeking employment while studying or after graduation.

Griffith Careers and Employment Service

Griffith's Careers and Employment Service supports you throughout your degree and should be part of your planning throughout your studies. Services include:

- career exploration
- preparing your CV and marketing yourself to employers
- finding employment while you are studying
- resources and events.

University Specialist Employment Partnership (USEP)

USEP program is an on-campus employment service aimed to meet the specific needs of graduating or graduated students with a disability who are seeking employment. An experienced University Specialist Recruitment Consultant will work to build a connection between you and potential employers. Register at usep.com.au or email disabilityemployment@griffith.edu.au

Australian Network on Disability (AND)

AND is a national organisation that links employers to graduates with disabilities. They have a range of internships and mentoring programs available each year. Sign up to their newsletter or contact them for more information.
