Welcome

2023 Institute For Glycomics Grand Ball

On behalf of Griffith University's Institute for Glycomics, we would like to extend a very warm welcome to everyone here tonight.

Your presence, generous donations and support through the purchase of raffle tickets and auction items during the course of the night will help us in our fight against some of the world's most devastating diseases, including cancer, infectious diseases and neurological disorders.

The Institute for Glycomics is one of Australia's flagship multidisciplinary biomedical research institutes based at Griffith University's Gold Coast campus.

Established 23 years ago, the Institute strives to be a world leader in the discovery and development of next generation drugs, vaccines and diagnostics in the fight against diseases of global impact.

The Institute boasts state-of-the-art facilities combined with some of the world's most outstanding researchers with a focus on 'Glycomics', a constantly expanding field that explores the structural and functional properties of carbohydrates (sugars).

Our research engages worldwide partnerships, in projects that cut across multiple disciplines to apply new approaches to the identification, treatment and prevention of diseases.

The Institute places a strong emphasis on translational research and commercialisation, to have a meaningful impact on human health globally.

The Institute's rich and enabling research environment provides exceptional Honours, Masters and PhD education programs for the nation's future scientists. Research students are given the opportunity to study alongside some of the world's most experienced and well-known research leaders and scientists, with access to state-of-the-art research equipment and facilities.

The Institute engages with industry, other premier research institutes, philanthropic organisations and governments from across the globe, giving it significant research capacity to provide healthcare solutions to address some of the world's most intractable diseases.

With an outstanding track record in translating biomedical discoveries to the clinic, there is little doubt that our unique approach will play a major role in the discovery and development of next generation drugs, vaccines and diagnostics with the power to change our future.

Director's welcome

Professor Mark von Itzstein AO FOUNDER AND DIRECTOR, INSTITUTE FOR GLYCOMICS

It's a great pleasure to have you all here this evening as we celebrate 23 years of remarkable research at the Institute for Glycomics and raise vital funds for the Institute's current and future translational research projects.

"HUA NIAO" BY SAMANTHA EVERTON

VALUE: $4,500 | RESERVE: $1,000 | DONATED BY: Anthea Polson Art

Huā Niǎo pigment ink on canson rag

58.3 x 80 cm edition of 5

Chinese words for "flowers", "birds"; Bird-and-flower paintings.

Hua Niao is a kind of Chinese painting originating in the 10th century.

Samantha Everton's Indochine series depicts a woman navigating the conflicting cultural pressures of the East and the West. Exuding visual luxury and vivid sensuality, the artworks plunge the viewer into a colour-saturated dreamscape. Informed by the artist's multi-cultural upbringing, with three adopted Asian siblings, Indochine explores identity and how Western influences have intersected with Eastern traditions and values.

A notable feature of Everton's work is her commitment to authenticity of image, the artist favours a cinematic style of photography over post-production techniques. Everything she creates is in camera. This means no montaging happens after production. Everything you see in the image was there: the model, the living bird, and detailed backgrounds. The Emerald raised, Melbourne-based artist has won multiple international photographic and fine art awards and had her work exhibited widely in Australia and internationally, including Paris and New York galleries. Everton is widely known for her commitment to photographic authenticity and her ambitious production processes.

PABLO PICASSO "SEATED MODEL", 1954

VALUE: $5,000 | RESERVE: $2,500 | DONATED BY: Chase Gallery

Colour lithograph from Picasso's "Human Comedy" series. In the "Human Comedy", Picasso depicts himself as the circus leader, the king, the painter and the adored clown. What unfolds is the artist's struggle not only with the impossibility of representing the model on canvas, but also with the inevitability of his own death. Dated in the plate.
